About me

I am a front-end developer with 8 years of commercial experience in enterprise web projects, admin panels, product interfaces, and scalable web applications. My main focus is JavaScript, Vue/Nuxt, TypeScript, responsive layout, performance optimization, and maintainable front-end architecture. I have worked in product teams, outsourcing companies, fintech, e-commerce, and online entertainment projects. I actively follow AI technologies and use them in development while continuing to write and review code myself.
